

A silver, twin-bell alarm clock with a black face and a 'Wiki' logo in the center. The clock has two large, polished metal bells at the top, connected by a curved metal arch. The clock face is black with white numerals from 1 to 12. The hands are silver, and there is a small silver dot at the center. The word 'Wiki' is printed in a stylized font in the center of the clock face. The clock is mounted on two small, silver, cylindrical feet.
