

British Documentary will begin at "Dimitrie Leonida" Technical Museum with a selection dedicated exclusively to scientific films, analysing, in detail some of the most interesting physical phenomena and not only.

The documentaries included in the programme have been either nominated or awarded by the Grierson Trust at The British Documentary Awards, one of the most prominent events of its kind.

The documentary film selection will be hosted by "Dimitrie Leonida" Technical Museum between 2 April and 2 July, according to the schedule below. The screenings will begin at 18h 00

2 April

"Wonders of the Solar System: Empire of the Sun"/„Minunile sistemului solar: Imperiul Soarelui"

16 April

"The Fabric of the Cosmos: Space Odyssey"/„Textura cosmosului: Odiseea Spațială"

14 May

"David Attenborough's Natural History Museum Alive"/„Muzeul de istorie naturală prinde viață"

21 May

"Order and Disorder: The Story of Energy"/„Ordine și dezordine: povestea energiei"

1 June

"The Joy of Stats"/„Bucuria statisticii"

4 June

"The Joy of Logic"/„Bucuria logicii"

18 June

"The 2000 Year-Old Computer"/„Computerul vechi de 2000 de ani"

2 July

"The Tube: An Underground History"/„Metroul londonez: o istorie necunoscută"

The documentaries are all subtitled in Romanian. Free entry.

The full description of the documentaries included in the programme is available by accessing the document below.